DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to as failing to comply with 37 CFR 1.84(p)(5) because they include the following reference character(s) not mentioned in the description:

Label 131 in figure 3 is not disclosed.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d), or amendment to the specification to add the reference character(s) in the description in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(b) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement-drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the examiner does not accept the changes, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claims 1-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter, which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The addition of the term "monolithic silicon" constitutes new matter that was not included at the time of filing.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 5,517,017 to Yamada et al in view of US 6,201,234 B1 to Chow et al.

With respect to claims 1-2, 5, & 7, Yamada et al disclose the X-axis detecting element (5, 41) as a first sensor to detect a first component of radiation and a Y-axis detecting element (7, 42) as a second sensor to detect a second component of radiation. The outputs of these two elements are used to determine the origin of the radiation source (see column 1, lines 10-12). Yamada et al do not explicitly disclose the use of a monolithic silicon circuit, but such is known and disclosed by Chow et al. Chow et al disclose a series of detectors (30) constructed monolithically into substrate (92). To modify the teachings of Yamada et al accordingly would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art as it allows for ease in production and lower costs.

With respect to claims 3-4, 6, & 12-13, Yamada et al do not explicitly disclose the use of a circuit for calculating the azimuth and elevation, but does disclose the algorithm for such calculations in column 8, lines 1-33. To modify the teachings accordingly is known and would have been obvious to include in order to properly utilize the output currents from the detectors.

With respect to claim 8, Yamada et al illustrate in figure 12 the first and second detectors to be positioned nonparallel with respect to each other.

With respect to claim 11, Yamada et al disclose photoelectric current detection elements (43-45) as a reference detector.

With respect to claim 14, Yamada et al illustrate in figure 12 the first and second detectors to be positioned nonparallel with respect to each other.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-16 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
